Newsletter No 3 Term 2
12 May 2022

Dear Sacred Heart families and friends,

Tomorrow we will be running a SELebration Day. This day is an opportunity to celebrate Social Emotional Learning at Sacred Heart.

On this day, we have planned the first block as a Diversity Dash (coloured fun run) sponsored by Safe Schools - this was part of the positive start to schools program. This event is about inclusion and the engagement of all students no matter their background, gender or ability.

We ask students to come to school in clothes they can wear for the fun run and to bring a change of clothes, which can be casual clothes, to wear for the rest of the school day. Please ensure all items are clearly labelled.

Thank you to the parents who have volunteered to provide support on the day. If you are able to help from 9.00 am - 10.50 am please check in at the front office when you arrive and then meet on the basketball court. Please ensure you are vaccinated and have a current Working With Children Check. If there is drizzle we will go ahead with the run but will have all presentations in the afternoon.

We will be distributing the Sacred Heart Emotions book that the students created as part of 16 Days of Activism last year. One book will be provided for each family. We are asking that teachers and parents read this with their class and use it as a springboard to discuss some of the different emotions that we can all experience.

The student leaders will also present the movie Inside Out during play breaks. This movie is rated PG so if there are any parents who do not want their child to view this movie please email gmurphy@shdiamondcreek.catholic.edu.au

Kind regards,

Jim & Gina

Catholic Identity

Jesus is present in the Eucharist

In the 3/4 level students have been learning about how Jesus is present in the Eucharist.

The Vatican explains that through the Eucharist we are united with the liturgy of heaven. We do the Eucharist as a memorial to Jesus as it makes present and actual the sacrifice for all of humankind of Christ on the cross. The sacrifice of Jesus with his crucifixion and the sacrifice of the Eucharist are one and the same sacrifice.

Jesus Christ is present in the Eucharist in a unique way; Transubstantiation means the change of the whole substance of bread into the substance of the Body of Christ and of the whole substance of wine into the substance of his Blood.

The 3/4 students were able to visually show their understanding of this in their artwork which has been displayed in the classroom. If you look closely you will see that from one side you can see an image of Jesus, and from the other side you can see the host.

NATIONAL WALK SAFELY TO SCHOOL DAY:

Walk Safely to School Day (WSTSD) is an annual, national event when all Primary School children are encouraged to walk and commute safely to school. The objectives of WSTSD are:

- To encourage parents and carers to walk to school with primary school age children and reinforce safe pedestrian behaviour.
- To promote the health benefits of walking and help create regular walking habits at an early age.
- To help children develop the vital road-crossing skills they will need as they become mature pedestrians.

For Walk Safely to School Day, which will be held Friday 20th May, staff members have volunteered to be present at four assembly points around Diamond Creek (Mitre 10 car park, Brooks Street, Everleigh Drive, St John's Anglican Church) at 8.00am to depart for Sacred Heart at no later than 8.15am. A permission form and further information was sent home via Operoo today.

FOUNDATION 2023:

We have had a number of prospective new families come to visit the school during Term 1. Our 2023 Enrolment Information Night will be held from 7.00pm on Tuesday 24th May. If any parents know of families who have a child ready to start school next year, please let them know about this date.

Wellbeing

THE RESILIENCE PROJECT:

This week's presentation from The Resilience Project focuses on Gratitude.

Gratitude is paying attention to the things that we have right now, and not worrying about what we don't have. We practise this by noticing the positives that exist around us. Research shows that practicing gratitude rewires our brains to overcome the negativity bias (which can lead to anxiety and depression) and see the world for what we are thankful for. It is also shown to broaden thinking, and increase physical health through improved sleep and attitude to exercise.

View Part 2 of the series here Gratitude - <https://theresilienceproject.com.au/parent-and-carer-hub/>
 There are many ways in which you can practise gratitude, including starting a Wellbeing Journal.

INSIGHTS

Does NAPLAN help children succeed academically?

NAPLAN is upon us again, arriving as it does every year, as Term 2 begins to build. And while many parents, teachers, and students are generally ambivalent and nonchalant about this "high-stakes" $100 million plus test, others take NAPLAN very seriously.

For those who are focused on NAPLAN results, there are NAPLAN preparation books for sale in stores around the country. Learning time in class is being disrupted so students can practice taking NAPLAN exams. And to highlight how high the stakes are in some families, "I'm buying my daughter a puppy if she scores in the top band" one mother informed me.

But is NAPLAN useful for understanding your child's academic capability? How helpful is NAPLAN when it comes to your child receiving an excellent education?

The short answer: not very.

The trouble with NAPLAN

Since its inception, NAPLAN has been contentious, for a number of reasons. Let me summarise, very briefly, some of the main concerns about NAPLAN:

1. There have been statistical and moral questions raised about the fairness, equity, reliability, and validity of NAPLAN for many years. (Too many to go into here, but important to mention.)
2. NAPLAN is a ranking system... but education should not be about ranking or competition. It should be about teaching and development, mastery and competence.
3. Kids get stressed about the test. While it's true that kids get stressed about tests all the time – and they do need to learn to manage that stress – NAPLAN seems to create high levels of stress, and based on the points above, it's unnecessary.
4. NAPLAN has been blamed for kids missing class learning, opportunities to perform musicals, sports, and more due to an ever-crowded curriculum and the push for better results.
5. It is not helpful to use NAPLAN diagnostically. The test is completed in May and results are returned at the year's end. To know how your child is performing at school it's more helpful to ask the teacher than to wait for a NAPLAN result.
6. You can actually guess how a school will perform based on the average income of the parents whose children attend.

Additionally, NAPLAN doesn't tell us anything helpful about a school other than how its students scored on that test. It tells us nothing about the teachers and their involvement with students, the culture of the school, what happens on the playground, or how students feel while they're at school.

For all of these reasons – and more – the Gonski Institute for Education issued a report last year suggesting that NAPLAN be scrapped!

If you want your children to thrive at school, NAPLAN results aren't a useful measure. But fortunately we know what is.

Helping Children Thrive at School

The following factors generally matter most when it comes to your child doing well at school:

1. Reading. If there is only one thing that you do with your children for their education, read to them. This should start as young as possible and continue through toddler years, preschool years, and into big school. Read to them – and have them read to you – as they go through their early primary years. And keep books around right through high school. Reading is one of the best predictors of children's academic success, and it is associated with increased resilience, particularly for kids from challenged or traumatic backgrounds.
2. Be involved. Research shows that parents who ask about school, check in on what students are learning, talk with the school teacher from time to time, and continue to monitor and stay up to date on what is happening at school have children who do better academically when compared with students whose parents are uninvolved. Getting involved shows you care.
3. Relationships with peers. Children who enjoy a sense of school belonging, according to Dr Kelly Allen at Monash University, do better at school. They also have higher levels of life satisfaction.
4. A sense of progress and purpose. These are two separate things, but I'm including them together because they often follow one another. When our children make progress, they feel competent and capable. This increases their motivation, and makes school feel purposeful. If parents can work to help children see the progress they're making, it will boost desire for more progress, and the work becomes easier and more enjoyable.
5. People who love them. There is no way of getting around this fact: kids do well for those they love. When a student loves his science teacher, science becomes the best subject ever and he tries hard as a result. Same goes with PE, English, or any other subject. Helping children feel like they are known, numbered, and missed combined with teachers who are enthusiastic about their topics, helps kids do better at school.

Often people will say, "But what about my child?" So many parents are dealing with ADHD, autism, ODD, sensory issues, depression, or other additional health or developmental needs. My response is always the same: those points above become even more vital. Read, be involved, help them make friends, challenge them to progress and find purpose, and make sure someone loves them.

Your child may (or may not) be about to sit the NAPLAN test any day now. Let them know that it's not about them. It's for the school only. Don't make a deal about their results when they show up in the post. It's old news by then. And when it's done, give them a hug, share a milkshake, and ask them about their friends, their teacher, or their favourite book to read... because those things will matter more for their education than their performance on this year's NAPLAN test.

This week at Sacred Heart

In Visual Art in Term 2, students from Years 1-4 have been exploring art-making through three-dimensional form...

Years One and Two students have been looking at how artists tell stories through art. They viewed artworks that tell biblical stories and watched the story of Jonah and the Whale. In response to this, students recreated the story in clay and are looking forward to painting them once they have been fired in the kiln.

Students in Years Three and Four are working on a project for Reconciliation Week. These plaster hand casts are going to represent everyone working together for reconciliation and will make up part of a collaborative artwork the students are working together to make. The artwork will be finished in time for Reconciliation Week.

Year 3/4s & 5/6s – Exploring Noah's Ark this week

Last Friday, our young Netballers were given the opportunity to meet the Premier, Daniel Andrews and local MPs, Vicki Ward and Danielle Green.

Two courts at the Diamond Creek netball complex will be permanently shielded from the elements after a $1 million funding announcement by Victorian Premier Daniel Andrews.

The Premier made the announcement, which will see the construction of weather resistant roofing for two adjoining courts, during a visit with Minister for Community Sport and Youth, Ros Spence.
